NOTES

When I received a contribution and gave it on the same day to the Deity at a Krishna temple, I have sometimes recorded neither the income nor the expense.

You have here a full account of my finances. I have no other assets or properties. I have one personal savings account, one checking account, and one PayPal account. The tallies for all these accounts are included in this report. The co-signer for the savings and checking accounts is Madhupati Dasa. The PayPal account usually has a balance of less than $300. When it receives funds, I generally transfer them to my checking account within two weeks.

I have no credit cards that draw on accounts of the Bhaktivedanta Book Trust (BBT), the International Society for Krishna Consciousness (ISKCON), or any other organization. Charges to my personal cards are included in this report.

I take no money from the BBT.

I ended the year with a larger balance than usual because I am keeping funds aside for publishing a book.

I have one additional asset: a prasadam distribution fund, now amounting to $4,178.65. This is a permanent fund earmarked for prasadam distribution. The funds in this account came as a gift from my late maternal grandmother, a gift later augmented by contributions from other members of my family from my previous asrama.

This report represents a true and accurate statement of my financial activity and status for the previous year.

COVER LETTER

Alachua, Florida
31 January 2014

Dear Friends and Devotees,

For the sake of personal financial accountability and transparency, since 2002 I have published an annual account of my finances. I here publish my finances for the year 2013.

This is not an account of my personal income and expenses, especially not in any legal sense. Rather, it is an account of money that has passed through my hands (and some that is still in them). Especially in accounting for expenditures, I have used terms like "Donation" merely as a matter of convenience. The money that came to me was not mine, so who was I to "donate" it? Often, in fact, the money came in the form of checks made out to ISKCON, the BBT, or a related organization, and all I did was receive them and pass them on.

In any case, I believe that these funds ought to be accounted for and that the accounts ought to be available to whoever may find them of interest. And so I am making them public.

I pray for the blessings of all well-wishing friends and all devotees of Krishna that anything I receive by the grace of Krishna may always be properly offered for Krishna's devotional service.

Hare Krishna.

Your servant,
Jayadvaita Swami
